

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. SEVENTH EDITION.

IN this edition of "Familiar Quotations," many authors are cited who have not been represented in any former edition, and numerous phrases added which have been gathered by patient gleanings from the old fields.

To the quotations from Shakespeare more than three hundred lines have been added; and those from Emerson, Gibbon, Johnson, Lamb, Lowell, Macaulay, Montgomery, Pope, and other authors, have been largely increased in number.

The notes and appendix contain much new matter, and the index has been carefully revised as well as enlarged.

SIXTH EDITION.

THE fourth edition of "Familiar Quotations" was published in 1863. The present edition embodies the results of the later researches of its editors, besides the contributions of various friends, and includes many quotations which have long been waiting a favorable verdict on the all-important question of familiarity. A few changes have been made in the arrangement, and the citations from Shakespeare have been adapted to the principal modern editions.

The former edition has been freshly compared with the originals, and such errors removed as the revision has disclosed. The editorial labors have been shared with REZIN A. WIGHT, ESQ., of New York, who has been a generous contributor to the former editions.

The editor takes pleasure in acknowledging his renewed obligations to PROF. HENRY W.

TO THE FOURTH EDITION.

THE favor shown to former editions has encouraged the compiler of this Collection to go on with the work and make it more worthy.

It is not easy to determine in all cases the degree of familiarity that may belong to phrases and sentences which present themselves for admission; for what is familiar to one class of readers may be quite new to another.

Many maxims of the most famous writers of our language, and numberless curious and happy turns from orators and poets, have knocked at the door, and it was hard to deny them. But to admit these simply on their own merits, without assurance that the general reader would readily recognize them as old friends, was aside from the purpose of this Collection.

Still, it has been thought better to incur the risk of erring on the side of fulness.

Owing to the great number of Quotations added in this edition, it has been necessary to make an entire reconstruction of the book.

It is hoped the lovers of this agreeable subsidiary literature may find an increased usefulness in the Collection corresponding with its present enlargement.

WHANNE that April with his shoures sote
The droughte of March hath perced to the rote Prologue. Line 1.

And smale foules maken melodie,
That slepen alle night with open eye,
So priketh hem nature in hir corages ;

All the world 's a stage

And all the men and women merely players ;
They have their exits and their entrances ;
And one man in his time plays many parts, —
His Acts being seven ages. At first, the Infant, Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms.
Then the whining School-boy, with his satchel
And shining morning face, creeping like snail Unwillingly to school. And then the Lover, Sighing like furnace, with a woful ballad
Made to his mistress' eyebrow. Then a Soldier,
Full of strange oaths, and bearded like the pard ;
Jealous in honour, sudden and quick in quarrel, Seeking the bubble Reputation Even in the cannon's mouth. And then the Justice,
In fair round belly with good capon lin'd,
With eyes severe and beard of formal cut.

Full of wise saws and modern instances,—
And so he plays his part. The sixth age shifts
Into the lean and slipper'd Pantaloon,
With spectacle on nose and pouch on side ;
His youthful hose well sav'd, a world too wide
For his shrunk shank ; and his big manly voice, Turning again toward childish treble, pipes
And whistles in his sound. Last scene of all,
That ends this strange eventful history,
Is second childishness and mere oblivion ; Sans teeth, sans eyes, sans taste, sans — everything. Act ii. Sc. 7.

KING HENRY V.

O for a muse of fire, that would ascend
The brightest heaven of invention ! Chorus.

Consideration, like an angel, came
And whipp'd th' offending Adam out of him.

Act i. Sc. 1.

Turn him to any cause of policy,
The Gordian knot of it he will unloose,
Familiar as his garter : that, when he speaks,
The air, a charter'd libertine, is still. Ibid.

Base is the slave that pays. Act ii. Sc. 1.

His nose was as sharp as a pen, and 'a babbled of green fields. Act ii. Sc. 3.

Self-love, my liege, is not so vile a sin
As self-neglecting. Act ii. Sc. 4.

Once more unto the breach, dear friends, once more,

In peace there 's nothing so becomes a man
As modest stillness and humility ;
But when the blast of war blows in our ears,
Then imitate the action of the tiger :
Stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood.

Act iii. Sc. 1.

And sheath'd their swords for lack of argument.

Ibid.

I see you stand like greyhounds in the slips,
Straining upon the start.

Ibid.

I thought upon one pair of English legs
Did march three Frenchmen.

Act iii. Sc. 7.¹

The hum of either army stilly sounds,
That the fix'd sentinels almost receive
The secret whispers of each other's watch.
Fire answers fire ; and through their paly flames
Each battle sees the other's umbered face.
Steed threatens steed, in high and boastful neighs Piercing the night's dull ear ; and from the tents,
The armourers, accomplishing the knights,
With busy hammers closing rivets up,
Give dreadful note of preparation.

Act iv. Chorus.

There is some soul of goodness in things evil,
Would men observingly distil it out.

Act iv. Sc. 3.

This day is call'd the feast of Crispian :
He that outlives this day, and comes safe home,
Will stand a tiptoe when this day is named,
And rouse him at the name of Crispian. Ibid.

Hung be the heavens with black. Act i. Sc. 1.
Between two hawks, which flies the higher pitch,
Between two dogs, which hath the deeper mouth,
Between two horses, which doth bear him best,
Between two girls, which hath the merriest eye,
I have, perhaps, some shallow spirit of judgment ;
But in these nice sharp quilllets of the law,
Good faith, I am no wiser than a daw.

The thief doth fear each bush an officer.

KING RICHARD III.

Now is the winter of our discontent
Made glorious summer by this sun of York,
And all the clouds that lower'd upon our house
In the deep bosom of the ocean buried.
Now are our brows bound with victorious wreaths ;
Our bruised arms hung up for monuments ;
Our stern alarums chang'd to merry meetings,
Our dreadful marches to delightful measures.
Grim-visaged war hath smooth'd his wrinkled front.

And now, instead of mounting barbed steeds
To fright the souls of fearful adversaries,
He capers nimbly in a lady's chamber,
To the lascivious pleasing of a lute.
But I that am not shap'd for sportive tricks,
Nor made to court an amorous looking-glass ;

Shakespeare.

King Richard III. continued.]

I, that am rudely stamp'd and want love's majesty
To strut before a wanton ambling nymph ;
I, that am curtail'd of this fair proportion,
Cheated of feature by dissembling nature,
Deform'd, unfinish'd, sent before my time
Into this breathing world, scarce half made up,
And that so lamely and unfashionable
That dogs bark at me as I halt by them, —
Why, I, in this weak piping time of peace,
Have no delight to pass away the time,
Unless to see my shadow in the sun.

O Lord, methought, what pain it was to drown !
What dreadful noise of water in mine ears !
What sights of ugly death within mine eyes !
Methought I saw a thousand fearful wracks ;
A thousand men that fishes gnaw'd upon ;
Wedges of gold, great anchors, heaps of pearl,
Inestimable stones, unvalued jewels,
All scattered in the bottom of the sea :
Some lay in dead men's skulls ; and in those holes
Where eyes did once inhabit, there were crept,
As 't were in scorn of eyes, reflecting gems.

Act iii. Sc. 1.

To be, or not to be ; that is the question : — Whether 't is nobler in the mind to suffer
The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune ;
Or to take arms against a sea of troubles,
And by opposing end them ? To die : to sleep, —
No more : and, by a sleep, to say we end
The heartache, and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to, — 't is a consummation Devoutly to be wish'd. To die, — to sleep : —
To sleep ! perchance, to dream : ay, there 's the rub ;

For in that sleep of death what dreams may come
When we have shuffled off this mortal coil, Must give us pause. There 's the respect
That makes calamity of so long life :
For who would bear the whips and scorns of time,
The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely,
The pangs of despis'd love, the law's delay,
The insolence of office, and the spurns
That patient merit of the unworthy takes,
When he himself might his quietus make
With a bare bodkin ? Who would fardels¹ bear,
To grunt and sweat under a weary life,
But that the dread of something after death, —

With grave Aspect he rose, and in his rising seemed
A pillar of state ; deep on his front engraven Deliberation sat, and public care ;
And princely counsel in his face yet shone, Majestic though in ruin. Sage he stood,
With Atlantean shoulders, fit to bear
The weight of mightiest monarchies ; his look Drew audience and attention still as night Or summer's noontide air. Book ii. Line 300.

Oh, shame to men! devil with devil damn'd Firm concord holds, men only disagree
Of creatures rational. Book ii. Line 496.

In discourse more sweet,
For eloquence the soul, song charms the sense,
Others apart sat on a hill retired,
In thoughts more elevate, and reason'd high
Of providence, foreknowledge, will, and fate,
Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute;
And found no end, in wand'ring mazes lost.
Book ii. Line 555.

Vain wisdom all, and false philosophy.
Book ii. Line 565.

Arm the obdured breast
With stubborn patience as with triple steel.
Book ii. Line 568.

A gulf profound as that Serbonian bog,
Betwixt Damiata and Mount Casius old,
Where armies whole have sunk: the parching air
Burns frore, and cold performs th' effect of fire.
Thither by harpy-footed Furies hal'd
At certain revolutions all the damn'd
Are brought; and feel by turns the bitter change Of fierce extremes, extremes by change more fierce,

With charm of earliest birds ; pleasant the sun,
When first on this delightful land he spreads
His orient beams, on herb, tree, fruit, and flower, Glist'ring with dew ; fragrant the fertile earth
After soft showers ; and sweet the coming on
Of grateful evening mild ; then silent night
With this her solemn bird and this fair moon,
And these the gems of heaven, her starry train :
But neither breath of morn when she ascends
With charm of earliest birds, nor rising sun
On this delightful land, nor herb, fruit, flower, Glist'ring with dew, nor fragrance after showers,
Nor grateful evening mild, nor silent night
With this her solemn bird, nor walk by moon,

A man so various, that he seem'd to be Not one, but all mankind's epitome ;
Stiff in opinions, always in the wrong,
Was everything by starts, and nothing long.
But in the course of one revolving moon,
Was chymist, fiddler, statesman, and buffoon.¹

Part i. Line 545.

So over-violent, or over-civil,
That every man with him was God or Devil.

Part i. Line 557.

Our hopes, like tow'ring falcons, aim
At objects in an airy height ;
The little pleasure of the game
Is from afar to view the flight.¹

To the Hon. Charles Montague.

From ignorance our comfort flows.

They never taste who always drink ;
They always talk who never think.
Upon a Passage in the Scaligerana.

HENRY CAREY. 1663 — 1743.

God save our gracious king,
Long live our noble king,
God save the king. God save the King.

Back on herself, and startles at destruction ?
'T is the divinity that stirs within us ;
'T is heaven itself that points out an hereafter,
And intimates eternity to man.
Eternity ! thou pleasing, dreadful thought !

Act v. Sc. 1.

I 'm weary of conjectures, — this must end 'em.
Thus am I doubly armed : my death and life,
My bane and antidote, are both before me :
This in a moment brings me to an end ;
But this informs me I shall never die.
The soul, secured in her existence, smiles
At the drawn dagger, and defies its point.
The stars shall fade away, the sun himself Grow dim with age, and nature sink in years,
But thou shalt flourish in immortal youth,
Unhurt amidst the war of elements,
The wrecks of matter, and the crush of worlds.

Night ii. Line 633.

A death-bed 's a detector of the heart.

Night ii. Line 641.

Woes cluster ; rare are solitary woes ;
They love a train, they tread each other's heel.¹

Night iii. Line 63.

Beautiful as sweet !
And young as beautiful ! and soft as young !
And gay as soft ! and innocent as gay !

Night iii. Line 81.

Lovely in death the beauteous ruin lay ;
And if in death still lovely, lovelier there ;
Far lovelier ! pity swells the tide of love.

ESSAY ON MAN.

Awake, my St. John! leave all meaner things
To low ambition, and the pride of kings.
Let us (since life can little more supply Than just to look about us, and to die)
Expatriate free o'er all this scene of man ;
A mighty maze! but not without a plan.

Epistle i. Line 1.

Together let us beat this ample field,
Try what the open, what the covert yield.

Epistle i. Line 9.

Eye Nature's walks, shoot folly as it flies,
And catch the manners living as they rise ;

ROBERT BLAIR. 1699–1747.

The Grave, dread thing!
Men shiver when thou'rt nam'd: Nature, appall'd, Shakes off her wonted firmness.

The Grave. Line 9.

The school-boy, with his satchel in his hand,
Whistling aloud to bear his courage up.¹

Ibid. Line 58.

Friendship! mysterious cement of the soul!
Sweet'ner of life! and solder of society!

Ibid. Line 88.

Of joys departed,
Not to return, how painful the remembrance!

Ibid. Line 109.

The good he scorn'd
Stalk'd off reluctant, like an ill-us'd ghost,
Not to return; or, if it did, in visits
Like those of angels, short and far between.²

Ibid. Part ii. Line 586.

RICHARD SAVAGE. 1698–1743.

He lives to build, not boast, a generous race;
No tenth transmitter of a foolish face.

JAMES THOMSON. 1700 - 1748.

Come, gentle Spring! ethereal Mildness! come.

The Seasons. Spring. Line 1.

Base envy withers at another's joy,
And hates that excellence it cannot reach.

Line 283.

But who can paint
Like Nature? Can imagination boast, Amid its gay creation, hues like hers?

Line 465.

Amid the roses fierce Repentance rears
Her snaky crest.

Line 996.

Delightful task! to rear the tender thought,
To teach the young idea how to shoot.

Line 1149.

An elegant sufficiency, content,
Retirement, rural quiet, friendship, books,
Ease and alternate labour, useful life,
Progressive virtue, and approving Heaven!

Line 1158.

The meek-ey'd Morn appears, mother of dews.

Summer. Line 47.

Falsely luxurious, will not man awake?

Line 67.

But yonder comes the powerful King of Day Rejoicing in the east.

Line 81.

Ships, dim-discover'd, dropping from the clouds.

Line 946.

And Mecca saddens at the long delay.

Summer. Line 979.

Sigh'd and look'd unutterable things.

Line 1188.

A lucky chance, that oft decides the fate

Of mighty monarchs.

Line 1285.

So stands the statue that enchants the world,
So bending tries to veil the matchless boast,
The mingled beauties of exulting Greece.

Line 1346.

Who stemm'd the torrent of a downward age.

Line 1516.

Autumn nodding o'er the yellow plain.

Autumn. Line 2.

Loveliness

Needs not the foreign aid of ornament,

But is, when unadorn'd, adorn'd the most.¹

Line 204.

He saw her charming, but he saw not half

The charms her downcast modesty conceal'd.

Line 229.

For still the world prevail'd, and its dread laugh,
Which scarce the firm philosopher can scorn.

Line 233.

See, Winter comes, to rule the varied year.

Winter. Line 1.

Cruel as death, and hungry as the grave.

Line 393.

¹ In naked beauty, more adorn'd,
More lovely, than Pandora.

Milton, Par. Lost, Book iv. Line 713.

Thomson.

There studious let me sit,
And hold high converse with the mighty dead.

Winter. Line 431.

The kiss, snatch'd hasty from the sidelong maid.
Line 625.

These as they change, Almighty Father! these Are but the varied God. The rolling year Is full of Thee.

Hymn. Line 1.

Shade, unperceiv'd, so softening into shade.

Line 25.

From seeming evil still educing good.

Line 114.

Come then, expressive silence, muse his praise.

Line 118.

A pleasing land of drowsyhed it was,
Of dreams that wave before the half-shut eye ;
And of gay castles in the clouds that pass,
For ever flushing round a summer sky :
There eke the soft delights, that witchingly
Instil a wanton sweetness through the breast,
And the calm pleasures, always hover'd nigh ;
But whate'er smack'd of noyance, or unrest,
Was far, far off expell'd from this delicious nest.

The Castle of Indolence. Canto i. Stanza 6.

O fair undress, best dress! it checks no vein,
But every flowing limb in pleasure drowns,
And heightens ease with grace.

Canto i. Stanza 26.

Plac'd far amid the melancholy main.

Canto i. Stanza 30.

Scoundrel maxim.

Canto i. Stanza 50.

A bard here dwelt, more fat than bard beseems.

The Castle of Indolence. Canto i. Stanza 68.

A little round, fat, oily man of God.

Canto i. Stanza 69.

I care not, Fortune, what you me deny :
You cannot rob me of free Nature's grace ;
You cannot shut the windows of the sky,
Through which Aurora shows her brightening face ;

You cannot bar my constant feet to trace
The woods and lawns, by living stream, at eve :
Let health my nerves and finer fibres brace,
And I their toys to the great children leave :
Of fancy, reason, virtue, naught can me bereave.

Canto ii. Stanza 3.

For ever, Fortune, wilt thou prove An unrelenting foe to love ;
And, when we meet a mutual heart,
Come in between and bid us part ?

Song, For ever, Fortune.

Whoe'er amidst the sons
Of reason, valour, liberty, and virtue, Displays distinguish'd merit, is a noble
Of Nature's own creating.

"O Sophonisba ! I am wholly thine."

Thomson.—Dyer.—Wesley.—Dodsley. 331

When Britain first, at Heaven's command Arose from out the azure main,
This was the charter of her land,
And guardian angels sung the strain :
Rule Britannia ! Britannia rules the waves !
Britons never shall be slaves.

On a Distant Prospect of Eton College. Stanza 1.

Ah, happy hills! ah, pleasing shade!

Ah, fields belov'd in vain!

Where once my careless childhood stray'd,

A stranger yet to pain!

I feel the gales that from ye blow

They hear a voice in every wind,

And snatch a fearful joy. Stanza 4.

Gay hope is theirs by fancy fed,

Less pleasing when possess;

The tear forgot as soon as shed,

The sunshine of the breast. Stanza 5.

Alas! regardless of their doom,

The little victims play;

No sense have they of ills to come,

Nor care beyond to-day.

Ah, tell them they are men! Stanza 6.

And moody madness laughing wild

Amid severest woe. Stanza 8.

To each his sufferings; all are men,

Condemn'd alike to groan,—

The tender for another's pain,

The unfeeling for his own.

Yet, ah! why should they know their fate,
Since sorrow never comes too late,
And happiness too swiftly flies?
Thought would destroy their paradise.
No more; — where ignorance is bliss,
'Tis folly to be wise.¹ Stanza 10.

Daughter of Jove, relentless power,

Where angels tremble while they gaze,
He saw ; but, blasted with excess of light,
Closed his eyes in endless night.

The Progress of Poesy. III. 2. Line 4.

Bright-eyed Fancy, hovering o'er,
Thoughts that breathe, and words that burn.¹

III. 3. Line 2.

Beyond the limits of a vulgar fate,
Beneath the Good how far, — but far above the Great.

III. 3. Line 16.

Ruin seize thee, ruthless King !
Confusion on thy banners wait !
Though fann'd by Conquest's crimson wing,

Shone like a meteor streaming to the wind.

Milton, Paradise Lost, Book i. Line 536.

Dear as the light that visits these sad eyes ;
Dear as the ruddy drops that warm my heart.¹

The Bard. I. 3. Line 12.

Weave the warp, and weave the woof,
The winding-sheet of Edward's race.
Give ample room, and verge enough²
The characters of hell to trace.

II. 1. Line 1.

Fair laughs the morn, and soft the zephyr blows,
While proudly riding o'er the azure realm
In gallant trim the gilded vessel goes ;
Youth on the prow, and Pleasure at the helm ;
Regardless of the sweeping whirlwind's sway,
That, hush'd in grim repose, expects his ev'ning prey.

II. 2. Line 9.

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day,

The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea.¹

The ploughman homeward plods his weary way,

And leaves the world to darkness and to me.

Elegy in a Country Churchyard. Stanza 1.

Each in his narrow cell forever laid,

The rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep.

Stanza 4.

The breezy call of incense-breathing morn.

Stanza 5.

Nor grandeur hear with a disdainful smile

The short and simple annals of the poor.

Stanza 8.

The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,

And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave,

Await alike the inevitable hour.

The paths of glory lead but to the grave.

Stanza 9.

Where, through the long-drawn aisle and fretted vault,

The pealing anthem swells the note of praise.

Stanza 10.

“The lowing herds wind slowly o'er the lea.”

358

Gray.

Can storied urn, or animated bust,
Back to its mansion call the fleeting breath?
Can honour's voice provoke the silent dust,
Or flattery soothe the dull cold ear of death?
Elegy in a Country Churchyard. Stanza 11.

Hands that the rod of empire might have sway'd,
Or waked to ecstasy the living lyre.
Stanza 12.

But Knowledge to their eyes her ample page,
Rich with the spoils of time, did ne'er unroll;¹
Chill penury repress'd their noble rage,
And froze the genial current of the soul.
Stanza 13.

Full many a gem of purest ray serene
The dark unfathom'd caves of ocean bear:
Full many a flower is born to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air.²
Stanza 14.

Some village Hampden, that, with dauntless breast,
The little tyrant of his fields withstood,
Some mute inglorious Milton here may rest,
Some Cromwell guiltless of his country's blood.
Stanza 15.

Th' applause of list'ning senates to command,
The threats of pain and ruin to despise,
To scatter plenty o'er a smiling land,
And read their history in a nation's eyes.

Elegy in a Country Churchyard. Stanza 16.

Forbade to wade through slaughter to a throne,
And shut the gates of mercy on mankind.

Stanza 17.

Far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife,
Their sober wishes never learn'd to stray;
Along the cool sequester'd vale of life,
They kept the noiseless tenor of their way.¹

Stanza 19.

Implores the passing tribute of a sigh.

Stanza 20.

And many a holy text around she strews,
That teach the rustic moralist to die.

Stanza 21.

For who, to dumb forgetfulness a prey,
This pleasing anxious being e'er resign'd,
Left the warm precincts of the cheerful day,
Nor cast one longing ling'ring look behind?

Stanza 22.

E'en from the tomb the voice of nature cries, E'en in our ashes live their wonted fires.²

Stanza 23.

Brushing with hasty steps the dews away,
To meet the sun upon the upland lawn.

² Yet in our ashen cold is fire yreken.

Chaucer, The Reves Prologue, Line 28.

One morn I miss'd him on the custom'd hill,
Along the heath, and near his fav'rite tree ;
Another came ; nor yet beside the rill,
Nor up the lawn, nor at the wood was he.
Elegy in a Country Churchyard. Stanza 28.

Here rests his head upon the lap of earth,
A youth to fortune and to fame unknown :
Fair Science frown'd not on his humble birth,
And Melancholy mark'd him for her own.¹
The Epitaph.

Large was his bounty, and his soul sincere,
Heav'n did a recompense as largely send :
He gave to mis'ry (all he had) a tear,
He gain'd from heav'n ('twas all he wish'd) a friend. Ibid.

No farther seek his merits to disclose,
Or draw his frailties from their dread abode,
(There they alike in trembling hope repose,)
The bosom of his Father and his God.

Ode on the Pleasure arising from Vicissitude. Line 45.

The meanest floweret of the vale,
The simplest note that swells the gale,

¹ But God, who is able to prevail, wrestled with him ;
marked him for his own. — Walton, Life of Donne.

Gray.

361

The common sun, the air, the skies,
To him are opening paradise.

Ode on the Pleasure arising from Vicissitude. Line 53.

And hie him home, at evening's close,
To sweet repast and calm repose. Line 87.

From toil he wins his spirits light,
From busy day the peaceful night ;
Rich, from the very want of wealth,
In heaven's best treasures, peace and health.

Line 93.

The social smile, the sympathetic tear.

Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,

Eternal sunshine settles on its head. Line 189.

Well had the boding tremblers learn'd to trace
The day's disasters in his morning face ;
Full well they laugh'd, with counterfeited glee,
At all his jokes, for many a joke had he ;
Full well the busy whisper, circling round,
Convey'd the dismal tidings when he frown'd :
Yet was he kind, or, if severe in aught,
The love he bore to learning was in fault.

The Deserted Village. Line 199.

In arguing, too, the parson own'd his skill,
For e'en though vanquish'd, he could argue still ;

The Deserted Village. Line 384.

O Luxury! thou curst by Heaven's decree.

Line 385.

Thou source of all my bliss, and all my woe,
That found'st me poor at first, and keep'st me so.

Line 413.

Who mix'd reason with pleasure, and wisdom with mirth.

Retaliation. Line 24.

Who, born for the universe, narrow'd his mind,
And to party gave up what was meant for mankind :

Though fraught with all learning, yet straining his throat,

To persuade Tommy Townshend to lend him a vote.

Who, too deep for his hearers, still went on refining,

And thought of convincing, while they thought of dining :

Though equal to all things, for all things unfit ;
Too nice for a statesman, too proud for a wit.

Line 31.

His conduct still right, with his argument wrong.

Line 46.

A flattering painter, who made it his care

To draw men as they ought to be, not as they are.

Line 63.

An abridgment of all that was pleasant in man.

Goldsmith. 375

As a wit, if not first, in the very first line.

Retaliation. Line 96.

On the stage he was natural, simple, affecting ;
'T was only that when he was off he was acting.

Line 101.

He cast off his friends, as a huntsman his pack,
For he knew, when he pleased, he could whistle them back.

Line 107.

Who pepper'd the highest, was surest to please.

Line 112.

When they talk'd of their Raphaels, Correggios, and stuff,

He shifted his trumpet, and only took snuff.

Elegy on the Death of a Mad Dog.

And in that town a dog was found,
As many dogs there be,
Both mongrel, puppy, whelp, and hound,
And curs of low degree. Ibid.

The dog, to gain his private ends,
Went mad, and bit the man. Ibid.

The man recover'd of the bite,
The dog it was that died.¹ Ibid.

When lovely woman stoops to folly,
And finds too late that men betray,
What charm can soothe her melancholy?
What art can wash her guilt away?
On Woman (Vicar of Wakefield, Ch. xxiv.).

The only art her guilt to cover,
To hide her shame from every eye,
To give repentance to her lover,
And wring his bosom, is — to die. Ibid.

EDMUND BURKE. 1729 – 1797.

The writers against religion, whilst they oppose every system, are wisely careful never to set up any of their own.

“War,” says Machiavel, “ought to be the only study of a prince”; and, by a prince, he means every sort of state, however constituted. “He ought,” says this great political Doctor, “to consider peace only as a breathing-time, which gives him leisure to contrive, and furnishes ability to execute, military plans.” A meditation on the conduct of political societies made old Hobbes imagine that war was the state of nature.

My vigour relents, — I pardon something to the spirit of liberty. Ibid. Vol. ii. p. 118.

The religion most prevalent in our northern colonies is a refinement on the principles of resistance: it is the dissidence of dissent, and the protestantism of the Protestant religion.

Ibid. Vol. ii. p. 123.

All government, indeed every human benefit and enjoyment, every virtue and every prudent act, is founded on compromise and barter.

Ibid. Vol. ii. p. 169.

The worthy gentleman who has been snatched from us at the moment of the election, and in the middle of the contest, whilst his desires were as warm, and his hopes as eager as ours, has feelingly told us what shadows we are, and what shadows we pursue.

On the Army Estimates. Vol. iii. p. 221.

You had that action and counteraction, which, in the natural and in the political world, from the reciprocal struggle of discordant powers draws out the harmony of the universe.¹

Reflections on the Revolution in France. Vol. iii. p. 277.

It is now sixteen or seventeen years since I saw the Queen of France, then the Dauphiness, at Versailles; and surely never lighted on this orb, which she hardly seemed to touch, a more delightful vision. I saw her just above the horizon, decorating and cheering the elevated sphere she just began to move in, — glittering like the morning-star, full of life, and splendour, and joy. . . . Little did I dream that I should have lived to see such disasters fallen upon her in a nation of gallant men, in a nation of men of honour and of cavaliers. I thought ten thousand swords must have leaped from their scabbards to avenge even a look that threatened her with insult. But the age of chivalry is gone. That of sophisters, economists, and calculators has succeeded.

JOHN ADAMS. 1735 — 1826.

The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epocha in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward for evermore.

Summary View of the Rights of British America.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

son is left free to combat it. Inaugural Address.

Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political ; peace, commerce, and honest friendship, with all nations, — entangling alliances with none ; the support of the State governments in all their rights, as the most competent administrations for our domestic concerns, and the surest bulwarks against anti-republican tendencies ; the preservation of the General Government in its whole constitutional vigour, as the sheet anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad ; freedom of religion ; freedom of the press ; freedom of person under the protection of habeas corpus ; and trial by juries impartially selected, — these principles form the bright constellation which has gone before us, and guided our steps through an age of revolution and reformation.

Eccles. Sonnets. Part i. xxv. Missions and Travels.

¹ Altered in later editions by omitting the last two lines, the others reading

But Man is thy most awful instrument,
In working out a pure intent.

“As thou these ashes, little Brook! wilt bear
Into the Avon, Avon to the tide
Of Severn, Severn to the narrow seas,
Into main ocean they, this deed accursed
An emblem yields to friends and enemies,
How the bold Teacher’s doctrine, sanctified
By truth, shall spread, throughout the world dispersed.”¹

Eccles. Sonnets. Part ii. xvii. To Wickliffe.

Fox says: “What Heraclitus would not laugh, or what Democritus would not weep? . . . For though they digged up his body, burnt his bones, and drowned his ashes, yet the word of God and truth of his doctrine, with the fruit and success thereof, they could not burn.”

Book of Martyrs. Vol. i. p. 606, ed. 1641.

“Some prophet of that day said,

‘The Avon to the Severn runs,
The Severn to the sea;
And Wickliffe’s dust shall spread abroad, Wide as the waters be.’”

Canto ii. St. 22.

In peace, Love tunes the shepherd's reed ;

In war, he mounts the warrior's steed ;

In halls, in gay attire is seen ;

In hamlets, dances on the green.

Love rules the court, the camp, the grove,

The Lay of the Last Minstrel. Canto v. St. 1.

True love 's the gift which God has given To man alone beneath the heaven :
 It is not fantasy's hot fire,
 Whose wishes, soon as granted, fly ;
 It liveth not in fierce desire,
 With dead desire it doth not die ;
 It is the secret sympathy,
 The silver link, the silken tie,
 Which heart to heart, and mind to mind,
 In body and in soul can bind. Canto v. St. 13.

Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
 Who never to himself hath said,
 This is my own, my native land !
 Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned,
 As home his footsteps he hath turned From wandering on a foreign strand ?
 If such there breathe, go, mark him well ;
 For him no Minstrel raptures swell ;
 High though his titles, proud his name,
 Boundless his wealth as wish can claim ;
 Despite those titles, power, and pelf,
 The wretch, concentred all in self,
 Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
 And, doubly dying, shall go down

To the vile dust, from whence he sprung, Unwept, unhonour'd, and unsung.

Weep on ; and, as thy sorrows flow,
I 'll taste the luxury of woe. Anacreontic.

Good at a fight, but better at a play,
Godlike in giving, but the devil to pay.
On a Cast of Sheridan's Hand.

The minds of some of our statesmen, like the pupil of the human eye, contract themselves the more, the stronger light there is shed upon them.

SAMUEL WOODWORTH. 1785 - 1842.

The old oaken bucket, the iron-bound bucket,
The moss-covered bucket, which hung in the well.
The Bucket.

ALLAN CUNNINGHAM. 1785—1842.

A wet sheet and a flowing sea,
A wind that follows fast,
And fills the white and rustling sail,
And bends the gallant mast.

A Wet Sheet and a Flowing Sea.

While the hollow oak our palace is,
Our heritage the sea. Ibid.

When looks were fond, and words were few.

REGINALD HEBER. 1783—1826.

Failed the bright promise of your early day!
Palestine.

No hammers fell, no ponderous axes rung;¹
Like some tall palm the mystic fabric sprung.

Brightest and best of the sons of the morning!
Dawn on our darkness, and lend us thine aid.
Epiphany.

No workman steel, no ponderous axes rung,
Like some tall palm the noiseless fabric sprung.

How sweet the lily grows.
First Sunday after Epiphany. No. ii.

When spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil. Seventh Sunday after Trinity.

Death rides on every passing breeze,
He lurks in every flower. At a Funeral.

Thou art gone to the grave! but we will not deplore thee, Though sorrows and darkness encompass the tomb. Ibid. No. ii.

Thus heavenly hope is all serene,
But earthly hope, how bright soe'er,
Still fluctuates o'er this changing scene,
As false and fleeting as 't is fair.
On Heavenly Hope and Earthly Hope.

From Greenland's icy mountains,
From India's coral strand,
Where Afric's sunny fountains Roll down their golden sand.
Missionary Hymn.

Though every prospect pleases,
And only man is vile. Ibid.

I see them on their winding way,

On being reminded that it was 'Independent Day,' he replied, 'Independence forever.'"—Webster's Works, Vol. i. p. 150. See Bancroft's History of the United States, Vol. vii. p. 65.

We wish that this column, rising towards heaven among the pointed spires of so many temples dedicated to God, may contribute also to produce, in all minds, a pious feeling of dependence and gratitude. We wish, finally, that the last object to the sight of him who leaves his native shore, and the first to gladden his who revisits it, may be something which shall remind him of the liberty and the glory of his country. Let it rise ! let it rise, till it meet the sun in his coming ; let the earliest light of the morning gild it, and the parting day linger and play on its summit. Address on Laying the Corner-Stone of the Bunker Hill Monument, 1825.

He smote the rock of the national resources, and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth. He touched the dead corpse of Public Credit, and it sprung upon its feet.¹ Speech on Hamilton, March 10, 1831.

On this question of principle, while actual suffering was yet afar off, they (the Colonies) raised their flag against a power, to which, for purposes of foreign conquest and subjugation, Rome, in the height of her glory, is not to be compared, — a power which has dotted over the LORD BYRON. 1788 – 1824.

Farewell! if ever fondest prayer
For other's weal avail'd on high,
Mine will not all be lost in air,
But waft thy name beyond the sky.
Farewell! if ever.

I only know we loved in vain —
I only feel — Farewell! — Farewell!

A school-boy's tale, the wonder of an hour!

Canto ii. St. 2.

Dim with the mist of years, gray flits the shade of power.

Canto ii. St. 2.

The dome of Thought, the palace of the Soul.¹

Canto ii. St. 6.

Ah! happy years! once more who would not be a boy?

Canto ii. St. 23.

None are so desolate but something dear,
Dearer than self, possesses or possess'd.

Canto ii. St. 24.

But midst the crowd, the hum, the shock of men,
To hear, to see, to feel, and to possess,
And roam along, the world's tired denizen,
With none who bless us, none whom we can bless.

Canto ii. St. 26.

Cooped in their winged sea-girt citadel.

Canto ii. St. 28.

Fair Greece! sad relic of departed worth!
Immortal, though no more; though fallen, great!

Canto ii. St. 73.

Hereditary bondsmen! know ye not,
Who would be free, themselves must strike the

Canto ii. St. 85.

Where'er we tread, 't is haunted, holy ground.

Canto ii. St. 88.

Age shakes Athena's tower, but spares gray Marathon.

Canto ii. St. 88.

Ada ! sole daughter of my house and heart.

Canto iii. St. 1.

Once more upon the waters ! yet once more !
And the waves bound beneath me as a steed
That knows his rider.

Canto iii. St. 2.

I am as a weed,
Flung from the rock, on Ocean's foam, to sail Where'er the surge may sweep, the tempest's breath prevail.

Canto iii. St. 2.

Years steal
Fire from the mind as vigour from the limb ;
And life's enchanted cup but sparkles near the brim.

Canto iii. St. 8.

There was a sound of revelry by night,
And Belgium's Capital had gathered then
Her Beauty and her Chivalry, and bright
The lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men ;
A thousand hearts beat happily ; and when Music arose with its voluptuous swell,

Soft eyes looked love to eyes which spake again,
And all went merry as a marriage-bell.

Childe Harold's Pilgrimage. Canto iii. St. 21.

On with the dance ! let joy be unconfined.

Canto iii. St. 22.

And there was mounting in hot haste.

Canto iii. St. 25.

Or whispering, with white lips — “The foe !
They come ! They come !”

Canto iii. St. 25.

Grieving, if aught inanimate e'er grieves,
Over the unreturning brave. Canto iii. St. 27.

Battle's magnificently-stern array.

Canto iii. St. 28.

And thus the heart will break, yet brokenly live

Childe Harold's Pilgrimage. Canto iii. St. 70.

By the blue rushing of the arrowy Rhone.

Canto iii. St. 71.

I live not in myself, but I become Portion of that around me ;¹ and to me
High mountains are a feeling, but the hum
Of human cities torture. Canto iii. St. 72.

This quiet sail is as a noiseless wing
To waft me from distraction. Canto iii. St. 85.

On the ear
Drops the light drip of the suspended oar.
Canto iii. St. 86.

All is concentred in a life intense,
Where not a beam, nor air, nor leaf is lost,
But hath a part of being. Canto iii. St. 89.

In solitude, where we are least alone.
Canto iii. St. 90.

The sky is changed ! and such a change ! O night,
And storm, and darkness ! ye are wondrous strong,
Yet lovely in your strength, as is the light
Of a dark eye in woman ! Far along,
From peak to peak, the rattling crags among Leaps the live thunder. Canto iii. St. 92.

¹ I am a part of all that I have met.
Tennyson, Ulysses.

Sapping a solemn creed with solemn sneer.

Childe Harold's Pilgrimage. Canto iii. St. 107.

I have not loved the world, nor the world me.¹

Canto iii. St. 113.

Among them, but not of them.

Canto iii. St. 113.

I stood in Venice, on the Bridge of Sighs ;
A palace and a prison on each hand.

Canto iv. St. 1.

Where Venice sate in state, throned on her hundred isles.

Canto iv. St. 1.

The thorns which I have reaped are of the tree
I planted — they have torn me, and I bleed ;
I should have known what fruit would spring from such a seed.

Canto iv. St. 10.

Striking the electric chain wherewith we are darkly bound.

Canto iv. St. 23.

The cold — the changed — perchance the dead
— anew,

The mourn'd, the loved, the lost — too many ! — yet how few !

Canto iv. St. 24.

Parting day

Dies like the dolphin, whom each pang imbues
With a new colour as it gasps away,
The last still loveliest, till — 't is gone — and all is gray.

Canto iv. St. 29.

The Ariosto of the North.

Canto iv. St. 40.

¹ I never have sought the world ; the world was not to seek me. — Boswell's Johnson, An. 1783.

Italia! Oh Italia! thou who hast
The fatal gift of beauty.¹

Fills

The air around with beauty. Canto iv. St. 49.

Let these describe the undescribable.

Canto iv. St. 53.

The starry Galileo with his woes.

Canto iv. St. 54.

The poetry of speech.

Canto iv. St. 58.

The hell of waters! where they howl and hiss.

Canto iv. St. 69.

The Niobe of nations! there she stands.

Canto iv. St. 79.

Yet, Freedom! yet thy banner, torn, but flying, Streams like the thunder-storm against the wind.

Canto iv. St. 98.

Heaven gives its favourites — early death.²

Canto iv. St. 102.

Man!

Thou pendulum betwixt a smile and tear.

Canto iv. St. 109.

Egeria! sweet creation of some heart

Which found no mortal resting-place so fair

As thine ideal breast.

Canto iv. St. 115.

The nympholepsy of some fond despair.

Canto iv. St. 115.

Thou wert a beautiful thought, and softly bodied forth.

Canto iv. St. 115.

Italia, Italia, o tu cui feo la sorte!

² Compare Don Juan, Canto iv. St. 12.

Alas! our young affections run to waste,
Or water but the desert.

Childe Harold's Pilgrimage. Canto iv. St. 120.

I see before me the Gladiator lie.

Canto iv. St. 140.

There were his young barbarians all at play,
There was their Dacian mother, — he, their sire, Butcher'd to make a Roman holiday.

Canto iv. St. 141.

“While stands the Coliseum, Rome shall stand;
When falls the Coliseum, Rome shall fall;
And when Rome falls, — the World.”¹

Canto iv. St. 145.

Scion of chiefs and monarchs, where art thou?
Fond hope of many nations, art thou dead?
Could not the grave forget thee, and lay low
Some less majestic, less beloved head?

Canto iv. St. 168.

Oh! that the desert were my dwelling-place,
With one fair Spirit for my minister,
That I might all forget the human race,
And, hating no one, love but only her!

Canto iv. St. 177.

There is a pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a rapture on the lonely shore,
There is society, where none intrudes,
By the deep Sea, and music in its roar:
I love not Man the less, but Nature more.

Canto iv. St. 178.

¹ Literally, the exclamation of the pilgrims in the eighth century, as recorded by the Venerable Bede.

Compare Gibbon, Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Ch. 71.

Roll on, thou deep and dark blue Ocean — roll !
Ten thousand fleets sweep over thee in vain ;
Man marks the earth with ruin — his control
Stops with the shore.

Childe Harold's Pilgrimage. Canto iv. St. 179.

He sinks into thy depths with bubbling groan, Without a grave, unknell'd, uncoffin'd, and unknown.

Canto iv. St. 179.

Time writes no wrinkle on thine azure brow —¹
Such as creation's dawn beheld, thou rollest now.

Canto iv. St. 182.

Thou glorious mirror, where the Almighty's form Glasses itself in tempests.

Canto iv. St. 183.

And I have loved thee, Ocean ! and my joy
Of youthful sports was on thy breast to be Borne, like thy bubbles, onward : from a boy
I wanton'd with thy breakers,

And trusted to thy billows far and near,
And laid my hand upon thy mane — as I do here.²

Canto iv. St. 184.

And what is writ, is writ, —

Would it were worthier !

Canto iv. St. 185.

Farewell ! a word that must be, and hath been —
A sound which makes us linger ; — yet — farewell.

Canto iv. St. 186.

¹ And thou vast ocean, on whose awful face
Time's iron feet can print no ruin-trace.

Robert Montgomery, The Omnipresence of the Deity.

² He laid his hand upon "the ocean's mane,"
And played familiar with his hoary locks.

Po'lok, The Course of Time, Book iv. Line 389

Hands promiscuously applied,
Round the slight waist, or down the glowing side.

The Walth.

He who hath bent him o'er the dead
Ere the first day of death is fled,
The first dark day of nothingness,
The last of danger and distress,
Before Decay's effacing fingers
Have swept the lines where beauty lingers.

The Giaour. Line 68.

Such is the aspect of this shore ;
'T is Greece, but living Greece no more !
So coldly sweet, so deadly fair,
We start, for soul is wanting there. Line 90.

Shrine of the mighty ! can it be
That this is all remains of thee ? Line 106.

For freedom's battle, once begun,
Bequeath'd by bleeding sire to son,
Though baffled oft, is ever won. Line 123.

And lovelier things have mercy shown
To every failing but their own ;
And every woe a tear can claim,
Except an erring sister's shame. Line 418.

The keenest pangs the wretched find
Are rapture to the dreary void,
The leafless desert of the mind,
The waste of feelings unemploy'd. Line 957.

Better to sink beneath the shock
'Than moulder piecemeal on the rock !
Line 969.

Byron.

523

The cold in clime are cold in blood,
Their love can scarce deserve the name.

The Giaour. Line 1099.

I die — but first I have possess'd,
And come what may, I have been blest.

Line 1114.

She was a form of life and light,
That, seen, became a part of sight ;
And rose, where'er I turned mine eye,
The Morning-star of Memory !
Yes, Love indeed is light from heaven ;

A spark of that immortal fire
With Angels shared, by Alla given,
To lift from earth our low desire. Line 1127.

Know ye the land where the cypress and myrtle Are emblems of deeds that are done in their clime ;

Where the rage of the vulture, the love of the turtle,

Now melt into sorrow, now madden to crime ?¹

The Bride of Abydos. Canto i. St. 1.

Where the virgins are soft as the roses they twine,
And all, save the spirit of man, is divine ?

Canto i. St. 1.

Who hath not proved how feebly words essay
To fix one spark of Beauty's heavenly ray ?
Who doth not feel, until his failing sight
Faints into dimness with its own delight,

¹ Know'st thou the land where the lemon-trees bloom,
Where the gold orange glows in the deep thicket's gloom,
Where a wind ever soft from the blue heaven blows,
And the groves are of laurel, and myrtle, and rose ?
Goethe, Wilhelm Meister.

His changing cheek, his sinking heart confess
The might—the majesty of Loveliness?

The Bride of Abydos. Canto i. St. 6.

The light of love, the purity of grace,
The mind, the music breathing from her face,¹
The heart whose softness harmonized the whole,
And oh! that eye was in itself a Soul.

Canto i. St. 6.

The blind old man of Scio's rocky isle.

Canto ii. St. 2.

Be thou the rainbow to the storms of life!
The evening beam that smiles the clouds away,
And tints to-morrow with prophetic ray!

Canto ii. St. 20.

He makes a solitude, and calls it—peace.²

Canto ii. St. 20.

Hark! to the hurried question of Despair:
"Where is my child?"—an Echo answers—

"Where?"³ Canto ii. St. 27.

O'er the glad waters of the dark blue sea,
Our thoughts as boundless, and our souls as free,
Far as the breeze can bear, the billows foam,⁴ Survey our empire, and behold our home.

The Corsair. Canto i. St. 1.

² Solitudinem faciunt, — pacem appellant. — Tacitus, Agricola, Cap. 30.

³ I came to the place of my birth, and cried, "The friends of my Youth, where are they?" And an Echo answered, "Where are they?"—From An Arabic MS.

⁴ To all nations their empire will be dreadful; be-

She walks the waters like a thing of life,
And seems to dare the elements to strife.

The Corsair. Canto i. St. 3.

The power of Thought, — the magic of the Mind.
Canto i. St. 8.

The many still must labour for the one!
Canto i. St. 8.

There was a laughing Devil in his sneer.
Canto i. St. 9.

Hope withering fled, and Mercy sighed Farewell!
Canto i. St. 9.

Farewell!

For in that word, — that fatal word, — howe'er
We promise — hope — believe, — there breathes despair. Canto i. St. 15.

No words suffice the secret soul to show,
For truth denies all eloquence to woe.
Canto iii. St. 22.

He left a Corsair's name to other times,
Linked with one virtue and a thousand crimes.²
Canto iii. St. 24.

Lord of himself, — that heritage of woe!
Lara. Canto i. St. 2.

winds can waft them. — Dalrymple's Memoirs, iii. 152.

² Hannibal, as he had mighty virtues, so had he many vices; unam virtutem mille vitia comitantur: as Machiavel said of Cosmo de Medici, he had two distinct persons in him. — Burton, Anat. of Mel. Democritus to the Reader.

She walks in beauty, like the night
 Of cloudless climes and starry skies ;
 And all that 's best of dark and bright Meet in her aspect and her eyes ;

MISS FANNY STEERS.

The last link is broken
That bound me to thee,
And the words thou hast spoken
Have rendered me free. Song.

JOSEPH RODMAN DRAKE. 1795—1820.

When Freedom from her mountain height
Unfurled her standard to the air,
She tore the azure robe of night,
And set the stars of glory there.
She mingled with its gorgeous dyes
The milky baldric of the skies,
And striped its pure, celestial white,
With streakings of the morning light.

Flag of the free heart's hope and home!
By angel hands to valour given;
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome,
And all thy hues were born in heaven.
Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us,
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us?

LORD BROUGHAM. 1779—1868.

Let the soldier be abroad if he will, he can do nothing in this age. There is another personage, a personage less imposing in the eyes of some, perhaps insignificant. The schoolmaster is abroad, and I trust to him, armed with his primer, against the soldier in full military array. Speech, January 29, 1828.

In my mind, he was guilty of no error, he was chargeable with no exaggeration, he was betrayed by his fancy into no metaphor, who once said, that all we see about us, Kings, Lords, and Commons, the whole machinery of the state, all the apparatus of the system, and its varied workings, end in simply bringing twelve good men into a box. Present State of the Law, Feb. 7, 1828.

HARTLEY COLERIDGE. 1796–1849.

Her very frowns are fairer far Than smiles of other maidens are.

She is not fair.

THOMAS NOON TALFOURD. 1795–1854.

So his life has flowed
From its mysterious urn a sacred stream,
In whose calm depth the beautiful and pure Alone are mirror'd ; which, though shapes of ill
May hover round its surface, glides in light,
And takes no shadow from them.

Ion. Act i. Sc. 1.

'T is a little thing
To give a cup of water ; yet its draught
Of cool refreshment, drain'd by fever'd lips,
May give a shock of pleasure to the frame
More exquisite than when Nectarean juice
Renews the life of joy in happiest hours.

Act i. Sc. 2.

ROBERT POLLOK. 1799–1827.

Sorrows remembered sweeten present joy.

THOMAS HAYNES BAYLY. 1797—1839.

I'd be a Butterfly born in a bow'r,
Where roses and lilies and violets meet.

I'd be a Butterfly.

Oh! no! we never mention her,
Her name is never heard;
My lips are now forbid to speak
That once familiar word.

Oh! no! we never mention her.

We met — 't was in a crowd. We met.

Why don't the men propose, mamma,
Why don't the men propose?

Why don't the men propose?

She wore a wreath of roses,
The night that first we met.

She wore a wreath.

Tell me the tales that to me were so dear,
Long, long ago, long, long ago.

Long, long ago.

Bayly.— Hood.

THOMAS HOOD. 1798—1845.

We watched her breathing through the night,

Her breathing soft and low,

As in her breast the wave of life

Kept heaving to and fro. The Death-Bed.

Our very hopes belied our fears,

Our fears our hopes belied ;

We thought her dying when she slept,

And sleeping when she died. Ibid.

And Dr. Dyet.

From Regimen Sunitatis Salernitanum, ed. 1607.

I see the right, and I approve it too,
Condemn the wrong, and yet the wrong pursue.

From Ovid, Metamorphoses, vii. 20. Translated by Tate and Stonestreet, ed. Garth.

From the New England Primer.

In Adam's fall,
We sinned all.

My Book and Heart Must never part.

Young Obadiah,
David, Josiah, —
All were pious.

Peter deny'd
His Lord, and cry'd.

Young Timothy
Learnt sin to fly.

Xerxes did die,
And so must I.

Zaccheus he Did climb the tree
Our Lord to see.

Our days begin with trouble here,
Our life is but a span,
And cruel death is always near,
So frail a thing is man.

Now I lay me down to take my sleep,
I pray the Lord my soul to keep ;
If I should die before I wake,
I pray the Lord my soul to take.

His wife, with nine small children and one at the breast, following him to the stake.

Martyrdom of Mr. John Rogers. Burnt at Smithfield, Feb. 14, 1554.

John Lee is dead, that good old man,
We ne'er shall see him more ;
He used to wear an old drab coat,
All buttoned down before.

An inscription in Matherne churchyard, "To the Memory of John Lee of this Parish, who died May 21st, 1823, aged 103 years."¹

Old Abram Brown is dead and gone,
You 'll never see him more ;
He used to wear a long brown coat
That buttoned down before.

Old Grimes is dead, — that good old man
We ne'er shall see him more :
He used to wear a long black coat,
All buttoned down before.

Now bething the, gentilman,
How Adam dalf and Eve span.

From a MS. of the 15th Century in the British Museum. Songs and Carols.

The same proverb existed in German. Agricola (Prov. No. 254).

So Adam reutte, und Eva span ;
Wer was da ein eddelman ?

For angling-rod, he took a sturdy oak ;
For line a cable, that in storm ne'er broke ;

His hook was baited with a dragon's tail,
And then on rock he stood to bob for whale.

A Cadmean victory.

Greek Proverb.

Συμμογόντων δὲ τῇ ναυμαχίῃ, Καδμείη τις νίκη τοῖσι Φωκαεῦσι ἐγένετο. — Herod. i. 166.

A Cadmean victory was one in which the victors suffered as much as their enemies.

The half is more than the whole.

To leave no stone unturned.

Πάντα κινήσαι πέτρον. — Euripides, Heraclid. 1002.

This may be traced to a response of the Delphic Oracle given to Polycrates, as the best means of finding a treasure buried by Xerxes' general, Mardonius, on the field of Platæa. The Oracle replied, Πάντα λίθον κίνει, Turn every stone. — Leutsch and Schneidewin, Corp. Paræmiogr. Græc. Vol. i. p. 146.

The sinews of war.

Æschines (Adv. Ctesiph. ch. 53) ascribes to Demosthenes the expression ὑποτέμνεται τὰ νεῦρα τῶν πραγμάτων, "the sinews of affairs are cut." Diogenes Laertius, in his Life of Bion (lib. iv. c. 7, § 3), represents that philosopher as saying τὸν πλοῦτον εἶναι νεῦρα πραγμάτων, "that riches were the sinews of business," or, as the phrase may mean, "of the state." Referring, perhaps, to this maxim of Bion, Plutarch says in his Life of Cleomenes (c. 27), "He who first called money the sinews of the state seems to have said this with special reference to war." Accordingly, we find money called expressly τὰ νεῦρα τοῦ πολέμου, "the sinews of war," in Libanius, Orat. xlvi. (vol. ii. p. 477, ed. Reiske), and by the Scholiast on Pindar, Olymp. i. 4 (comp. Photius, Lex. s. v. Μεγάνορος πλούτου). So Cicero Philipp. v. 2, "nervos belli, infinitam pecuniam."

Man is a two-legged animal without feathers.

Plato having defined man to be a two-legged animal without feathers, he (Diogenes) plucked a cock, and, bringing him into the school, said "Here is Plato's man." From which there was added to the definition, "with broad, flat nails."—Diogenes Laertius, Lib. vi. c. ii. Vit. Diog. Ch. vi. § 40.

Plutarch relates the story of a Roman being divorced from his wife. "This person being highly blamed by his friends, who demanded, — was she not chaste? was she not fair? — holding out his shoe asked them whether it was not new, and well made. Yet, added he, none of you can tell where it pinches me." — Plutarch, Life of Æmilius Paulus.

To smell of the lamp.

Plutarch, Life of Demosthenes. Ch. 8.

To call a spade a spade.

Plutarch, Reg. et Imp. Apoph. Philip. xv.

Τὸ σῦκα σῦκα, τὴν σκῆψην δὲ σκῆψην βνομάζων. — Aristophanes, as quoted in Lucian, Quom. Hist. sit conscrib. 41.

Brought up like a rude Macedon, and taught to call a spade a spade. — Gosson, Ephemerides of Phialo. 1579.

Begging the question.

This is a common logical fallacy, petitio principii; and the first explanation of the phrase is to be found in Aristotle's Topica, viii. 13, where the five ways of begging the question are set forth. The earliest English work in which the expression is found is "The Arte of Logike plainlie set forth in our English Tongue, &c. 1584."

See how these Christians love one another.

Vide, inquit, ut invicem se diligant. — Tertullian, Apologet. c. 39.

I believe it, because it is impossible.

Certum est, quia impossibile est. — Tertullian, De Carne Christi, c. 5.

Usually misquoted, Credo quia impossibile.

The blood of the Martyrs is the seed of the Church.

Plures efficimur, quoties metimur a vobis ; semen est sanguis Christianorum. — Tertullian, Apologet. c. 50.

In a note to this passage in Tertullian, ed. 1641, there is the following quotation from St. Jerome : “ Est sanguis martyrum seminarium ecclesiarum.”

When at Rome, do as the Romans do.

St. Augustine was in the habit of dining upon Saturday as upon Sunday ; but, being puzzled with the different practices then prevailing (for they had begun to fast at Rome on Saturday), consulted St. Ambrose on the subject. Now at Milan they did not fast on Saturday, and the answer of the Milan saint was this : —

“ When I am here, I do not fast on Saturday ; when at Rome, I do fast on Saturday.”

“ Quando hic sum, non jejuno Sabbato : quando Romæ sum, jejuno Sabbato.” — St. Augustine, Epistle xxxvi. to Casulanus.

When they are at Rome, they do there as they see done. — Burton, Anatomy of Melancholy. Part. iii. sec. 4, Mem. 2, Subs. 1.

Beware of a man of one book.

When St. Thomas Aquinas was asked in what manner a man might best become learned, he answered “ by reading one book.” The homo unius libri is indeed proverbially formidable to all conversational figurantes. — Southey, The Doctor, p. 164.

Months without an R.

It is unseasonable and unwholesome in all months that have not an R in their name to eat an oyster. — Butler, Dyet's Dry Dinner. 1599.

Old wood to burn! Old wine to drink! Old friends to trust! Old authors to read!

Alonso of Aragon was wont to say, in commendation of age, that age appeared to be best in these four things. — Melchior, Floresta Española de Apothegmas o sentençais, &c., ii. 1. 20. Bacon, Apothegms, 97.

What find you better or more honourable than age? Take the preheminnce of it in everything: in an old friend, in old wine, in an old pedigree. — Shakerly Marmion, The Antiquary.

I love everything that's old. Old friends, old times, old manners, old books, old wine. — Goldsmith, She Stoops to Conquer. Act i. Sc. 1.

Young men think old men fools, and old men know young men to be so.

Quoted by Camden as a saying of one Dr. Metcalf. It is now in many people's mouths, and likely to pass into a proverb. — Ray's Proverbs, p. 145, ed. Bohn.

The Gentle Craft.

According to Brady (Clavis Calendaria), this designation arose from the fact, that, in an old romance, a prince of the name of Crispin is made to exercise, in honour of his namesake, St. Crispin, the trade of shoemaking.

There is a tradition that King Edward IV., in one of his disguises, once drank with a party of shoemakers, and pledged them. The story is alluded to in the old play: —

Marry because you have drank with the King,
And the King hath so graciously pledg'd you,
You shall no more be called shoemakers ;
But you and yours, to the world's end,
Shall be called the trade of the gentle craft.

George a-Greene. 1599.

As good as a play.

An exclamation of Charles II. when in Parliament attending the discussion of Lord Ross's Divorce Bill.

The king remained in the House of Peers while his speech was taken into consideration, — a common practice with him ; for the debates amused his sated mind, and were sometimes, he used to say, as good as a comedy. — Macaulay, Review of the Life and Writings of Sir William Temple.

Nullos his malle m ludos spectasse.

Horace, Sat. ii. 8, 79.

Die in the last ditch.

To William of Orange may be ascribed this saying. When Buckingham urged the inevitable destruction which hung over the United Provinces, and asked him whether he did not see that the Commonwealth was ruined, "There is one certain means," replied the prince, "by which I can be sure never to see my country's ruin, — I will die in the last ditch." — Hume, History of England. 1672.

A Rowland for an Oliver.

These were two of the most famous in the list of Charlemagne's twelve peers ; and their exploits are rendered so ridiculously and equally extravagant by the old romancers, that from thence arose that saying, amongst our plain and sensible ancestors, of giving one a "Rowland for his Oliver," to signify the matching one incredible lie with another. — Thomas Warburton.

All is lost save honour.

It was from the imperial camp near Pavia, that Francis the First, before leaving for Pizzighetone, wrote to his mother the memorable letter which, thanks to tradition, has become altered to the form of this sublime laconism : "Madame, tout est perdu fors l'honneur."

The true expression is, "Madame, pour vous faire savoir comme se porte le reste de mon infortune, de toutes choses ne m'est demeuré que l'honneur et la vie qui est sauve." — Martin, Histoire de France. Tom. viii.

All the brothers were valiant, and all the sisters virtuous.

From the inscription on the Tomb of the Duchess of Newcastle in Westminster Abbey.

Defend me from my friends.

The French Ana assign to Maréchal Villars taking leave of Louis XIV. this aphorism, "Defend me from my friends; I can defend myself from my enemies."

But of all plagues, good Heaven, thy wrath can send,
Save, save, oh save me from the candid friend!

Canning, The New Morality.

The King is dead! Long live the King!

The death of Louis XIV. was announced by the captain of the body-guard from the window of the state apartment. Raising his truncheon above his head, he broke it in the centre, and, throwing the pieces among the crowd, exclaimed in a loud voice, Le Roi est mort! then, taking another staff, he flourished it in the air as he shouted, Vive le Roi!

Speech was given to man to conceal his thoughts.

Ils n'employent les paroles que pour déguiser leurs pensées. — Voltaire, Dialogue xiv. 1763.
When Harel wished to put a joke or witticism into circulation, he was in the habit of connecting it with some celebrated name, on the chance of reclaiming it if it took. Thus he assigned to Talleyrand in the Nain Jaune the phrase, "Speech was given to man to disguise his thoughts." — Fournier, L'Esprit dans l'Histoire. See Young, ante, p. 283.

Hobson's choice.

Tobias Hobson was the first man in England that let out hackney horses. When a man came for a horse, he was led into the stable, where there was a great choice, but he obliged him to take the horse which stood next to the stable door; so that every customer was alike well served according to his chance, from whence it became a proverb, when what ought to be your election was forced upon you, to say "Hobson's choice." — Spectator. Colonel Blacker, Oliver's Advice. 1834.

There is a well-authenticated anecdote of Cromwell. On a certain occasion, when his troops were about crossing a river to attack the enemy, he concluded an address, couched in the usual fanatic terms in use among them, with these words: "Put your trust in God; but mind to keep your powder dry." — Hayes's Ballads of Ireland. Nation of shopkeepers.

From an oration purporting to have been delivered by Samuel Adams at the State House in Philadelphia, August 1, 1776. *Philadelphia, printed, London, reprinted for E. Johnson, No. 4, Ludgate Hill. MDCCLXXVI.*¹

To found a great empire for the sole purpose of raising up a people of customers may at first sight appear a project fit only for a nation of shopkeepers.—Adam Smith, Wealth of Nations. Vol. ii. Book iv. Ch. vii. Part 3. 1775.

And what is true of a shopkeeper is true of a shopkeeping nation.—Tucker, Dean of Gloucester. Tract. 1766.

Beginning of the end.

Fournier asserts, on the written authority of Talleyrand's brother, that the only breviary used by the ex-bishop was L'Improvisateur Français, a compilation of anecdotes and bon-mots, in twenty-one duodecimo volumes.

Whenever a good thing was wandering about in search of a parent, he adopted it; amongst others, "C'est le commencement de la fin."

To shew our simple skill,
That is the true beginning of our end.

Emerald Isle.

This expression was first used in a song called Erin, to her own Tune, by Dr. William Drennan. 1754–1820.

Orthodoxy is my doxy, Heterodoxy is another man's doxy.

"I have heard frequent use," said the late Lord Sandwich, in a debate on the Test Laws, "of the words 'orthodoxy' and 'heterodoxy'; but I confess myself at a loss to know precisely what they mean." "Orthodoxy, my Lord," said Bishop Warburton, in a whisper,—"orthodoxy is my doxy,—heterodoxy is another man's doxy."—Priestley's Memoirs. Vol. i. p. 572.

No one is a hero to his valet.

This phrase is commonly attributed to Madame de Sévigné, but, on the authority of Madame Aisse, belongs to Madame Cornuel.—Lettres édit. J. Ravenal. 1853.

Few men are admired by their servants.

Montaigne, Essais. Book iii. Ch. 11.

When Hermodotus in his poems described Antigonus as the son of Helios (the sun), "My valet-de-chambre," said he, "is not aware of this."—Plutarch, De Iside et Osiride. Ch. xxiv.

Greatest happiness of the greatest number.

That action is best, which procures the greatest happiness for the greatest numbers. Hutcheson's Inquiry: Concerning Moral Good and Evil. Sec. 3. (1720.)

Priestley was the first (unless it was Beccaria) who taught my lips to pronounce this sacred truth,—that the greatest happiness of the greatest number is the foundation of morals and legislation.—Bentham's Works. Vol. x. p. 142.

The expression is used by Beccaria in the introduction to his Essay on Crimes and Punishments. (1764.)

The Guard dies, but never surrenders.

This phrase, attributed to Cambronne, who was made prisoner at Waterloo, was vehemently denied by him. It was invented by Rouge-mont, a prolific author of mots, two days after the battle, in the Independant. — Fournier, L'Esprit dans l'Histoire.

The wisdom of many and the wit of one.

Ridicule the test of truth.¹

How comes it to pass, then, that we appear such cowards in reasoning, and are so afraid to stand the test of ridicule? — Shaftesbury, Characteristicks. A Letter concerning Enthusiasm. Sec. 2.

Truth, 't is supposed, may bear all lights; and one of those principal lights or natural mediums by which things are to be viewed, in order to a thorough recognition, is ridicule itself. — Shaftesbury, Essay on the Freedom of Wit and Humour. Sec. 1.

'T was the saying of an ancient sage,² that humour was the only test of gravity; and gravity, of humour. For a subject which would not bear raillery was suspicious; and a jest which would not bear a serious examination was certainly false wit. — Ibid. Sec. 5.

² Gorgias Leontinus, apud Arist. Rhetor, lib. 3, cap. 18.

Art and Part.

A Scotch law phrase, — an accessory before and after the fact. A man is said to be art and part of a crime when he contrives the manner of the deed, and concurs with and encourages those who commit the crime, although he does not put his own hand to the actual execution of it. Scott, Tales of a Grandfather. Ch. xxii. Execution of Morton.

Better to wear out than to rust out.

When a friend told Bishop Cumberland he would wear himself out by his incessant application, "It is better," replied the Bishop, "to wear out than to rust out." — Bishop Horne, Sermon on the Duty of Contending for the Truth.

Before you could say Jack Robinson.

This current phrase is derived from a humorous song by Hudson, a tobacconist in Shoe Lane, London. He was a professional song-writer and vocalist, who used to be engaged to sing at supper-rooms and theatrical houses.

Order reigns in Warsaw.

General Sebastiani announced the fall of Warsaw in the Chamber of Deputies, Sept. 16, 1831: Des lettres que je reçois de Pologne m'annoncent que la tranquillité règne à Varsovie. — Dumas, Mémoires, 2nd Series. Vol. iv. Ch. 3.

A foreign nation is a contemporaneous posterity.

Byron's European fame is the best earnest of his immortality, for a foreign nation is a kind of contemporaneous posterity. — Stanley, or The Recollections of a Man of the World. Vol. ii. p. 89.

Sardonic smile.

The island of Sardinia, consisting chiefly of marshes or of mountains, has, from the earliest period to the present, been cursed with a noxious air, an ill-cultivated soil, and a scanty population. The convulsions produced by its poisonous plants gave rise to the expression of sardonic smile, which is as old as Homer (Odys. lib. xx. v. 302).—Mahon, History of England. Vol. i. p. 287.

Consistency is a jewel.

This is one of those popular sayings, like "Be good, and you will be happy," or "Virtue is its own reward," that, like Topsy, "never was born, only jist growed." From the earliest times it has been the popular tendency to call this or that cardinal virtue, or bright and shining excellence, a jewel, by way of emphasis. For example, Iago says:—

"Good name, in man or woman, dear my lord,
Is the immediate jewel of their souls."

Shakespeare elsewhere calls "Experience a jewel;" Miranda says her Modesty is the jewel in her dower; and in "All's Well that Ends Well," Diana terms her chastity the jewel of her house. We might go on to quote John Heywood's "Plain dealing 's a jewel," and many others, but we think these examples are enough. — R. A. Wight.

Dead as Chelsea.

To get Chelsea; to obtain the benefit of that hospital. "Dead as Chelsea, by G-d!" an exclamation uttered by a grenadier at Fontenoy, on having his leg carried away by a cannon ball. Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, 1758, quoted by Brady (Var. of Lit. 1826).

 Darlings, wealthy curled, 128.
 Dart, death shook his, 202.
 like the poisoning of a, 178.
 on the fatal, 512.
 shook a dreadful, 189.
 time shall throw a, 152.
 Daughter, harping on my, 114.
 of his voice, 201.
 Daughter of the voice of God, 455.
 sole, of my house, 515.
 this old man's, 128.
 Daughter's heart, preaching down a, 580.
 Daughters, fairest of her, 194.
 of my father's house, 53.
 David, not only hating, 223.
 Daw, no wiser than a, 72.
 Dawn, belong not to the, 197.
 golden exhalations of the, 476.
 is overcast, 265.
 later star of, 438.
 May-time and cheerful, 439.
 Dawning, bird of, 107.
 of morn, with the, 485.
 Daws to peck at, 128.
 Day, as it fell upon a, 139, 150.
 at the close of the, 402.
 better, the better deed, 248.
 brought back my night, 218.
 burden and heat of the, 635.
 business of the, be drunk, 237.
 count that, lost, 606.
 darkest, the, 400.
 dearly love but one, 259.
 deceased, of every, 278.
 dog will have his, 124.
 each critic on the last, 299.
 ended with the, 587.
 ere the first, of death, 522.
 eye of, close the, 217.
 great avenging, 314.
 great the important, 265.
 harmless, entertains the, 148.
 he that outlives this, 71.
 I've lost a, 278.
 in June, what so rare as a, 592.
 in thy courts, 616.
 is done and darkness falls, 575.
 jocund, stands tiptoe, 87.
 joint labourer with the, 106.
 kings upon coronation, 238.
 knell of parting, 357.
 light of common, 457.
 live-long, the, 88.
 maddest merriest, 580.
 may bring forth, what a, 623.
 merry as the, is long, 30.
 merry heart goes all the, 55.
 morning shows the, 204.
 night follows the, 110.
 not to me returns, 191.
 now's the, 422.
 of adversity, 622, 625.
 of nothingness, 522.
 of prosperity, 625.
 of small things, 631.
 of virtuous liberty, 265.

- Day of woe, 462.
 parting, linger and play, 508.
 peep of, 168.
 posteriors of this, 36.
 powerful king of, 327.
 raineth every, 55.
 so calm so cool, 163.
 suffering ended with the, 587.
 summer's, hath a, 173.
 sweet, so calm so cool, 163.
 that comes betwixt a Saturday and Monday, 259.
 that is dead, 582.
 think that, lost, 607.
 through the roughest, 96.
 unto day uttereth speech, 614.
 Daylight and truth meet, 220.
 sick, 44.
 we burn, 25.
 Day-star, so sinks the, 212.
 Days, afternoon of her best, 76.
 among the dead, 464.
 are as grass, 617.
 are dwindled, 413.
 are in the yellow leaf, 530.
 are swifter than a shuttle, 612.
 as thy, so thy strength, 609.
 begin with trouble here, 604.
 boyish, even from my, 129.
 degenerate, men in these, 314.
 fallen on evil, 198.
 flight of future, 187.
 heavenly, one of those, 439.
 in the brave, of old, 563.
 live laborious, 211.
 long as twenty, are now, 437.
 measure of my, 615.
 melancholy, are come, 557.
 my, are dull and hoary, 222.
 o' auld lang syne, 422.
 of childhood, in my, 467.
 of my distracting grief, 368.
 of nature, in my, 112.
 of our years, 617.
 on evil, though fallen, 198.
 one of those heavenly, 439.
 perfect, if ever come, 592.
 race of other, 544.
 remorseful, 73.
 salad, my, 136.
 sweet childish, 437.
 that are no more, 583.
 that need borrow, 173.
 to lengthen our, 498.
 to lose good, 15.
 winding up, 71.
 with God he passed the, 275.
 world of happy, 75.
 Day's business, end of this, 94.
 march nearer home, 479.
 Daze the world, 568.
 Dazzle as they fade, 493.
 the vision feminine, 567.
 Dazzles to blind, 403.
 Dazzling fence of rhetoric, 210.
 Dead as Chelsea, 663.
 bent him o'er the, 522.
 better be with the, 101.
 day that is, 582.
 days among the, 464.
 fading honours of the, 487.
 flies a stinking savour, 626.
 for a ducat, 120.
 he mourns the, 278.
 in his harness, 632.
 men's bones, full of, 636.
 men's skulls, 76.
 mournings for the, 577.
 not, but gone before, 435.
 of midnight, 409.
 past bury its dead, 573.
 sheeted, did squeak, 107.
 vast and middle, 109.
 would I were, now, 555.
 Deadly fair so coldly sweet, 522.
 Deaf adder, like the, 616.
 Deal damnation round, 311.
 Deans, dowagers for, 582.
 Dear as remembered kisses, 583.
 as the light that visits, 356.
 as the ruddy drops, 356.
 as the vital warmth, 251.
 as these eyes that weep, 251.
 beauteous death, 222.
 charmer away, 319.
 five hundred friends, 392.
 for his whistle, 336.
 hut our home, 334.
 son of memory, 216.
 Dearer than his horse, 580.
 than self, 514.
 Dearest thing he owed, 96.
 Dearly let or let alone, 163.
 Dears, the lovely, 423.
 Death a necessary end, 91.
 aims with fouler spite, 162.
 all of, to die, 479.
 and his brother Sleep, 538.
 armed with new terror, 543.
 back resounded, 190.
 be thou faithful unto, 645.
 begun, is our birth, 281.
 bones hearsed in, 111.
 borders upon our birth, 153.
 broke the vital chain, 338.
 by slanderous tongues, 33.
 calls ye, 160.
 came with friendly care, 474.

Death, can this be, 311.
 certain to all, 68.
 cold ear of, 358.
 cometh soon or late, 563.
 covenant with, 629.
 coward sneaks to, 317.
 cruel as, 328.
 cruel, is always near, 604.
 dear beauteous, 223.
 die a dry, 22.
 drawing near her, 221.
 dread of something after, 116.
 early, 519.
 ere thou hast slain, 152.
 faithful unto, 645.
 first day of, 522.
 give me liberty, or, 407.
 grim, 154, 190.
 grinned horrible, 190.
 herald after my, 80.
 how wonderful is, 538.
 in battle, prize of, 594.
 in, be laid low, 433.
 in the midst of life, 646.
 in the pot, 611.
 into the world, 182.
 intrenched, 280.
 just and mightie, 17.
 kisses after, 533.
 lays his icy hands, 169.
 love is strong as, 627.
 lovely in, ruin, 279.
 loves a shining mark, 281.
 lurks in every flower, 505.
 makes equal, 147.

 slavery or, 265.
 sleep is a, 181.
 sleep of, in that, 116.
 smooth the bed of, 303.
 so noble, quiet us in, 206.
 sorrows of, compassed me, 614.
 soul under the ribs of, 209.
 speak me fair in, 43.

Death, studied in his, 96.
 the consoler, 576.
 there is no, 577.
 till, us do part, 646.
 thou hast all seasons, 542.
 to us, play to you, 246.

 Sunshine broken in the rill, 495.
 in the shady place, 13.
 of the breast, 353.
 settles on its head, 372.
 soul's calm, 290.
 to the sunless land, 457.
 Superfluous lags the veteran, 337.
 Supped full with horrors, 105.
 Supper, man made after, 68.
 nourishment called, 34.
 with such a woman, 321.
 Supply, last and best, 294.
 Support and raise, 182.
 Surcease, success with his, 97.
 Sure and certain hope, 646.
 and firm-set earth, 99.
 assurance double, 103.
 Surely you'll grow double, 453.
 Surer to prosper, 186.
 Surety for a stranger, 620.
 Surfeit reigns, crude, 209.
 with too much, 40.
 Surge may sweep, 515.
 whose liquid, resolves, 88.
 Surgery, honour no skill in, 65.
 past all, 132.
 Surges lash the shore, 298.
 Surpasses or subdues, 516.
 Surprise, that testified, 237.
 Surprises, millions of, 164.
 Survey, monarch of all I, 399.
 our empire, 524.
 Survive or perish, live or die, 507.
 Suspects yet strongly loves, 133.
 Suspended oar, drip of the, 517.
 Suspicion, Cæsar's wife above, 650.
 haunts the guilty mind, 74.
 sleeps at wisdom's gate, 192.
 Swain, dull, treads on it daily, 209.
 frugal, 368.

 Swallow-flights of song, 585.
 Swam before my sight, 309.
 in a gondola, 49.
 Swan and shadow, 447. of Avon, 162.
 on still St. Mary's lake, 447.
 let me sing, 533.
 Swashing and martial outside, 45.
 blow, remember, 82.
 Sway, above this sceptred, 43.
 give sovereign, 97.
 impious men bear, 266.
 of magic potent, 443.
 required with gentle, 194.
 with absolute, 248.
 Swear an eternal friendship, 433.
 eat and yet I, 71.
 not by the moon, 84.
 rant and, 241.
 to the truth of a song, 257.
 Swearth to his own hurt, 614.
 Swears a prayer or two, 83.
 with so much grace, 252.
 Sweat but for promotion, 46.
 for duty, 46.
 of thy face, 608.
 under a weary life, 116.
 Swell, music's voluptuous, 516.
 the soul to rage, 234.
 Swelling of the voiceful sea, 477.
 Sweep on greasy citizens, 45.
 Sweeping whirlwind's sway, 356.
 Sweeps a room, who, 163.
 Sweet and bitter fancy, 49.
 and musical, 36.
 and virtuous soul, 163.
 and voluble, 35.
 are the uses of adversity, 45.
 as English air, 582.
 as summer, 80.
 as the primrose, 373.
 as year by year, 550.
 attractive grace, 193.
 beautiful as, 279.
 bells jangled out of tune, 117.
 childish days, 437.

 Tatters, tear a passion to, 118.
 Taught, afterward he, 2.
 by that power, 375.
 by time, 316.
 her dazzling fence, 210.
 highly fed and lowly, 51.
 men must be, 299.
 the wheedling arts, 318.
 us how to die, 317.
 us how to live, 317.
 Tawny lion, 199.
 Tax for being eminent, 262.
 not you you elements, 126.
 Taxation, pressure of, 467.
 Taxed top, 466.
 Tea, some sipping, 445.
 sometimes take, 300.
 Teach him how to live, 386.
 in song, what they, 539.
 me to feel another's woe, 311.
 souls to souls can never, 568.
 the rest to sneer, 302.
 the young idea, 327.
 thee safety, 56.
 us to number our days, 617.
 Teacher, let nature be your, 453.
 Teaching by examples, 274.
 Team of little atomies, 83.
 Tear a passion to tatters, 117.
 betwixt a smile and, 519.
 drop a, 170, 331. dropped a, 350.
 drying up a single, 535.
 each others' eyes, 270.
 every woe can claim, 522.
 for others' woes, 403.
 for pity, he hath a, 60.
 forgot as soon as shed, 353.
 her tattered ensign, 589.

the trick, in doubt, 657.
they laugh that, 134.
us to our harm, 95.
us with honest trifles, 95.
wouldst wrongly, 96.
- Wince, let the galled jade, 119.
- Wind and his nobility, 61.
blow, come wrack, 106.
blow thou winter, 48.
bloweth where it listeth, 638.
breathing of the common, 448.
crannying, save to the, 516.
dry, dry sun, 8.
- Wind, fly on the wings of the, 614.
God tempers the, 350.
he that observeth the, 626.
hollow blasts of, 318.
idle as the, 93.
ill blows the, 671.
large a charter as the, 47.
let her down the, 133.
sorrow's keenest, 446.
strumpet, 41.
that grand old harper, 596.
thunder-storm against the, 519.
voice in every, 333.
- Winding bout, with many a, 214.
way, see them on their, 505.
- Winding-sheet of Edward's race, 356.
- Window like a pillory, 229.
light through yonder, 84.
of the east, 82.
- Windowed raggedness, 126.
- Windows of the sky, 330. richly dight, 215.
that exclude the light, 361.
- Winds and waves on the side of the ablest navigators, 388.
blow, crack your cheeks, 126.
courted by all the, 205.
happy, 582.
of heaven, 108.
stormy, do blow, 483.
wings of all the, 647.
- Windy side of the law, 54.
- Wine a good familiar creature, 132.
for thy stomach's sake, 643.
good, needs no bush, 50.
I'll not look for, 151.
is a mocker, 621.
old, to drink, 653.
sudden friendship from, 320.

- Wine, walnuts and the, 579.
Wine-press, trodden the, 630.
Wing, as a noiseless, 517.
 damp my intended, 201.
 human soul take, 527.
 the dart, plucked to, 180.
Winged hours of bliss, 482.
 sea-girt citadel, 514.
 the shaft, 512.
Wings, add speed to thy, 189.
 flies with swallows', 77.
 girt with golden, 207.
 healing in his, 631.
 lend your, 312.
 shadow of thy, 614.
 spreads his light, 309.
Winking Mary-buds, 138.
Winter comes to rule, 328.
 crown old, 173.
 in thy year, no, 409.
 lingering, 359.
 loves a dirge-like sound, 444.
 my age is as a lusty, 46.
 when the dismal rain, 596.
Winter's fury, withstood the, 316.
Wipe a bloody nose, 320.
Wiped away the weeds, 571.
Wisdom, all men's, 661.
 and false philosophy, 188.
 and wit, 275, 325.
 at one entrance, 192.
 born with a man, 160.
 crieth without, 619.
 in the grave, 626.
 is humble, 395.
 is justified, 634.
 man of, 281.
 married to immortal verse, 460. mounts her zenith, 409.
 of many, wit of one, 661.
 our ancestors, 384.
 our hearts unto, 617.
Wisdom, price of, is above rubies, 612.
 the prime, 199.
 therefore get, 619.
 vain, all, 188.
 wake, though, 192.
 will not enter, 567.
 with mirth, 374.
Wisdom's aid, 366.
 gate, suspicion sleeps at, 192.
 part, this is, 335.
Wise above that which is written, 640. and masterly inactivity, 430.
 as serpents, 634.
 Bacon or brave Raleigh, 306. be not worldly, 163.
 depend for cure, 237.
 fair spoken exceeding, 80.

 one man's, 661.
 plentiful lack of, 114.
 so narrow human, 296.
 too proud for a, 374.
 wings of borrowed, 159.
 with dunces, 308.
 Wit's end, at their, 617.
 Witch hath power to charm, 107.
 the world, 65.
 Witchcraft, heil of, 140.
 this only is the, 130.
 Witchery of soft blue sky, 445.
 Witching time of night, 120.
 With thee conversing, 195.
 Withered and shaken, 554.
 and so wild, 95.
 Withering on the stalk, 454.
 on the virgin thorn, 36.
 Withers are unwrung, 119.
 Within, I have that, 108.
 one of her, 681.
 Without Thee we are poor, 394.
 Witnesses, cloud of, 643.
 Wits, dunce with, 308.
 great, will jump, 670.
 Wits, encounter of our, 75.
 homely, 24.
 to madness near allied, 234.
 Witty in myself, 67.
 it shall be, 325.
 though ne'er so, 16.
 Wizards that peep, 628.
 Woe, amid severest, 353.

 out salvation, 230.
- Working-day world, 45.
- Works, rich in good, 643.
 son of his own, 11.
 these are thy glorious, 197.
- World an idler too, 392.
 and its dread laugh, 328.
 and worldlings base, 69.
 another and a better, 431.
 balance of the old, 434.
 banish all the, 63.
 bestride the narrow, 89.
 blows and buffets of the, 201.
 books are a, 454.
 but two nations bear, 231.
 can give, joy the, 528.
 cankers of a calm, 65.
 cast out of the, 17.
 children of this, 637.
 daffed the, 64.
 dissolves, 20.

- World falls when Rome falls, 520.
 fever of the, 442.
 forgetting, 309.
 good deed in a naughty, 44.
 governed by little wisdom, 160. grew pale, 337.
 harmoniously confused, 310.
 his honours to the, 80.
 I hold the, but as the, 39.
 I have not loved the, 518.
 if all the, were young, 16.
 in a naughty, 44.
 in love with night, 86.
 in the universal, 71.
 is a comedy, 364.
 is a theatre, 174.
 is a tragedy, 364.
 its veterans rewards, 294.
 knows nothing of its greatest men, 567.
 light of the, 633.
 little foolery governs the, 160.
 little of this great, 129.
 man is one, 164.
 naked for all the, 68.
 naked through the, 135.
 ne'er saw, monster the, 250.
 no copy, leave the, 52.
 of waters, 191.
 pendent, 29.
 pomp and glory of this, 79.
 peace to be found in the, 502.
 proud, good bye, 571.
 queen of the, 418.
- World, rack of this tough, 128.
 riddle of the, 288.
 round the habitable, 241.
 shot heard round the, 572.
 sink, let the, 165.
 slide, let the, 50, 147, 672. slumbering, 277.
 start of the majestic, 89.
 statue that enchants the, 328.
 steal from the, 311.
 stood against the, 92.
 syllables govern the, 160.
 syrups of the, 133.
 that nourish all the, 35.
 the flesh and the devil, 645.
 the whole, kin, 81.
 this bleak, alone, 498.
 this little, 57.
 this tough, 128.
 three corners of the, 58.
 too wide, 48.
 unintelligible, 442.
 universal, 71.
 uses of this, 108.
 visitations daze the, 568.
 when all the, dissolves, 20.
 wide enough for thee and me, 350. witch the, 65.
 worship of the, 538.
 worth the winning, 234.
- World's altar-stairs, 585.
 tired denizen, 514.
- Worldlings do, testament as, 45.
- Worldly ends, neglecting, 22.
 wise, be not, 163.
- Worlds, allured to brighter, 372.
 crush of, 266.

- Worlds, so many, 585.
 Worm, bit with an envious, 82.
 the canker and the, 530.
 the smallest, will turn, 73.
 Worms and epitaphs, 59.
 of Nile, 138.
 Worn out with eating time, 243.
 Worn out word, alone, 565.
 Worse appear the better, 186.
 for wear, not much the, 398.
 remains behind, 121.
 than a crime, 428.
 Worship God he says, 424.
 of the great of old, 529.
 of the world, 538.
 Worst of slaves, 363.
 of thoughts, 132.
 speak something good, 164.
 this is the, 127.
 Worst-natured muse, 249.
 Worth a thousand men, 492.
 by poverty depressed, 337.
 celestial, 284.
 conscience of her, 200.
 doing well, 324.
 in anything, what is, 228.
 sad relic of departed, 514.
 Worthier, would it were, 521.
 Worthy of your love, 454.
 Wot not what they are, 34.
 Would I were dead now, 555.
 it were bed-time, 65.
 that I were low laid, 56.
 Wouldst not play false, 96.
 Wound, earth felt the, 201.
 grief of a, 65.
 Wound, stain like a, 383.
 that never felt a, 84.
 with a touch, 321.
 Wounded in the house of my friends, 631.
